

Newsday / Audrey C. Tiernan

Working with Bohemia-based Symbol Technologies, Stony Brook computer science professor Theo Pavlidis and graduate student Ynjiun Wang helped develop a new type of bar code that carries more information.

Figure 20: From Newsday's LI Business section, May 4, 1992.